

Hallowe'en SPECIAL SALE

Hoffay Phonographs

Model—Concert—Regular Price $75.00; Cash Sale Price $60.00—and choice of 3 Gennett Records Free.

Model No. 100—Hoffay, Regular Price $125.00; Cash Sale Price $100.00—and choice of 5 Gennett Records Free.

Model No. 140—Hoffay, Regular Price $175.00; Cash Sale Price $140.00—and choice of 8 Gennett Records Free.

Model No. 190—Hoffay, Regular Price $225.00; Cash Sale Price of $180.00—and choice of 11 Gennett Records Free.

Model No. 250—Hoffay, Regular Price $275.00; Cash Sale Price $220.00—and choice of 13 Gennett Records Free.

THE HOFFAY
plays ALL makes of disc records perfectly. The entire library of the world's phonograph records is wide open to you.

Geo. A. Lowe Company

The BIG Hardware Store

SMOOT COMPELLED TO MAKE RETRACTION OF STATEMENT

Church Leaders Shown Not to Have Changed Approval of League of Nations

Senator Smoot has been made to retract his statements inferring that the First Presidency of the Mormon church has changed its attitude on the League of Nations.

In a speech at Tooele, October 16, Senator Smoot quoted a paragraph from a message of the First Presidency published in the Christmas News, December 29, 1919. He said the message was the last expression of the church authorities on the subject of the League of Nations and attempted to show that both he and others, as he contended, had changed their minds on the league.

Senator Smoot's statement was manifestly an attempt to convey a false impression. He read only a part of the message of the First Presidency, omitting the largest and most important part favorable to the league.

The publication of his Tooele speech caused the members of the First Presidency to demand a retraction. This Senator Smoot promised to do in a speech at Ogden Monday. In that enforced retraction he said:

"My statement that millions of people in the United States have changed their minds since the treaty was brought to this country is absolutely true. BUT I DO NOT WISH TO BE UNDERSTOOD AS INCLUDING THE FIRST PRESIDENCY AMONG THE NUMBER AS I HAD NO INTENTION OR THOUGHT OF DOING SO AND HAVE NO INTENTION NOW."

Senator Smoot did not say directly that the church authorities had changed their minds on the League of Nations, but he implied as much by inference. It was to correct this inference that he was required to supplement his remarks at Tooele by quoting the full text of the Christmas message, and making this statement.

The First Presidency of the Church has not changed its attitude on the League of Nations from that expressed in unqualified approval at the 1919 October conference. At that time the sentiment of the church was expressed by President Hoover, J. J. Grant, after signing a manifesto urging the ratification of the treaty of peace and league of nations without reservation or amendment.

The sentiment contained in the manifesto expresses my personal position with regard to the League of Nations, and since signing the telegram I have neither changed nor read anything that has in any degree changed my position on this important question. (Political Advertisement.)

ings of the political game as it is usually played.

The secretary told of a journalist who wished to have the president "do one of the stunts that the public dearly loves to read about," and of the comment of the president.

He said to me: "Tumulty, you must realize that I am not a politician. I do not want to be displayed before the public. If I tried to do it I would do it badly. I want people to love me but they never will."

TWO DIFFERENT PICTURES
"I have never forgotten the wistful tones in which he spoke those last four words: 'But they never will,' Secretary Tumulty said.

Two final pictures, Mr. Tumulty said, also came to his mind. The first, that of the president in 1917, "a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

"He is sixty years old," he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

He is sixty years old, he said, "but he looks not more than forty-five, so little of him, so alert, so healthy, so bright. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message."

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans in 1917, a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert."

The Graceful Carriage— and Its Secret

IF the lines of your figure are full, with a tendency toward weight, you will find no corset so grace-giving and at the same time so comfortable and satisfactory as

Rengo Belt

Reducing Corsets

The special steelastic webbing belt over the too prominent abdomen holds it flat, and the reinforced back and sides straighten and slenderize the hips.

Women who wear Rengo Corsets always look much younger than they really are. This is because of the exclusive and patented Rengo features which make them extraordinarily strong where the greatest strain falls—over abdomen and hips.

W. H. Wright & Sons Co.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets

Rengo Corsets are economically priced from $3 to $10

INTIMATE STORIES OF WILSON PRESENTED BY PRESIDENT'S SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—An intimate picture of the man who assured you that all the male picture "of the manner of man" was based on the fact that he had known him for ten years as his private secretary and had through Washington once and touched here and there with hitherto heard a man say that another man unpublished incidents in the president's life, was drawn last night by Joseph P. Tumulty, speaking at a Democratic mass meeting, just over the line to Maryland.

Mr. Tumulty described the president as "a man as strangely misunderstood by some and as violently misinterpreted by others as any man in the whole history of American politics."

He had long desired, he said, to tell the country what he knew of Mr. Wilson's character, but had refrained from the knowledge that the president "who shrinks from self-exploitation, would be said by his friends."

With the approach of Mr. Wilson's retirement to private life, however, Mr. Tumulty continued, "it seems to me not improper that just before the curtain rises on the last act, I should step out from my obscurity in the wings, and tell the audience a few things about the leading actor."

Recalling his ten years in the "intimate relationship of private secretary," the speaker said: "I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz."

"I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz," he said, "man smokers, on the golf links, and in the club, who assure you that all the male picture 'of the manner of man' was based on the fact that he had known him for ten years as his private secretary and had through Washington once and touched here and there with hitherto heard a man say that another man unpublished incidents in the president's life, was drawn last night by Joseph P. Tumulty, speaking at a Democratic mass meeting, just over the line to Maryland."

Mr. Tumulty described the president as "a man as strangely misunderstood by some and as violently misinterpreted by others as any man in the whole history of American politics."

He had long desired, he said, to tell the country what he knew of Mr. Wilson's character, but had refrained from the knowledge that the president "who shrinks from self-exploitation, would be said by his friends."

With the approach of Mr. Wilson's retirement to private life, however, Mr. Tumulty continued, "it seems to me not improper that just before the curtain rises on the last act, I should step out from my obscurity in the wings, and tell the audience a few things about the leading actor."

Recalling his ten years in the "intimate relationship of private secretary," the speaker said: "I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz."

"I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz," he said, "man smokers, on the golf links, and in the club, who assure you that all the male picture 'of the manner of man' was based on the fact that he had known him for ten years as his private secretary and had through Washington once and touched here and there with hitherto heard a man say that another man unpublished incidents in the president's life, was drawn last night by Joseph P. Tumulty, speaking at a Democratic mass meeting, just over the line to Maryland."

Mr. Tumulty described the president as "a man as strangely misunderstood by some and as violently misinterpreted by others as any man in the whole history of American politics."

He had long desired, he said, to tell the country what he knew of Mr. Wilson's character, but had refrained from the knowledge that the president "who shrinks from self-exploitation, would be said by his friends."

With the approach of Mr. Wilson's retirement to private life, however, Mr. Tumulty continued, "it seems to me not improper that just before the curtain rises on the last act, I should step out from my obscurity in the wings, and tell the audience a few things about the leading actor."

Recalling his ten years in the "intimate relationship of private secretary," the speaker said: "I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz."

"I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz," he said, "man smokers, on the golf links, and in the club, who assure you that all the male picture 'of the manner of man' was based on the fact that he had known him for ten years as his private secretary and had through Washington once and touched here and there with hitherto heard a man say that another man unpublished incidents in the president's life, was drawn last night by Joseph P. Tumulty, speaking at a Democratic mass meeting, just over the line to Maryland."

Mr. Tumulty described the president as "a man as strangely misunderstood by some and as violently misinterpreted by others as any man in the whole history of American politics."

He had long desired, he said, to tell the country what he knew of Mr. Wilson's character, but had refrained from the knowledge that the president "who shrinks from self-exploitation, would be said by his friends."

With the approach of Mr. Wilson's retirement to private life, however, Mr. Tumulty continued, "it seems to me not improper that just before the curtain rises on the last act, I should step out from my obscurity in the wings, and tell the audience a few things about the leading actor."

Recalling his ten years in the "intimate relationship of private secretary," the speaker said: "I may be presumed to know at least some of the American casualties at Vera Cruz."

The president was quiet all day. He went about his business methodically, with his usual clear judgment and prompt decisions, but this night he was not for a long time. At last he said: "I can't get it off my mind. It had to be done. It was right. Nothing else was possible, but I cannot forget that it was I who had to order those young men to their deaths."

Earlier that year when word came that a German vessel, laden with munitions, was on its way to Mexico, President Wilson talked over the telephone with Secretaries Bryan and Daniels, and Mr. Tumulty said he was also on the telephone during the conversation. When the situation had been stated to the president, he said: "The voice came back, clear and firm: 'Order Admiral Mayo to take Vera Cruz at once.'"

"Just before I cut off the connection," Secretary Tumulty continued, "I said a word to the president about the tragedy of it all. His voice responded, no longer clear, but muffled, as when one chokes back a sob. 'What do you think of it, Tumulty? It means death. It breaks my heart, but it must be done.'"

PRESIDENT NO COWARD
Secretary Tumulty recalled also Mr. Wilson's determination to ride in the funeral procession of the martyred and sailors killed at Vera Cruz when the bodies were brought to New York.

Disquieting rumors that an attack was planned on his life had reached secret service men, Mr. Tumulty said, and "one undertook to argue with him, saying: 'You will show all proper respect by appointing to the review, a general of the army.'"

"The country can not afford to lose its president," he replied. "The country can not afford to have a coward for president. This was his brief and final answer. He rode in the procession."

The sternness of Woodrow Wilson, his secretary declared, was "just the reverse side of his human nature, and made 'nothing more natural, than that he should have become the champion of small nations.'"

The president's insistence, upon article ten of the league covenant, was explained as a wish to forestall the necessity of the United States going to war by making it a participant in a plan to prevent the beginning of such war."

"He wished to stop the next war before it should begin," Mr. Tumulty said.

STRONG FOR WAR
In contrast to Mr. Wilson's self-proclaimed "passion for peace," Secretary Tumulty declared that "when the challenge came from Germany to America, when the American mind was ready for war, this same Woodrow Wilson was the most uncompromising advocate of the most stringent measures for conducting the war, thereby to hasten the end of the war."

The speaker recalled the president's speech to officers of the Atlantic fleet in 1912, published long after, in which he said: "I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest."

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

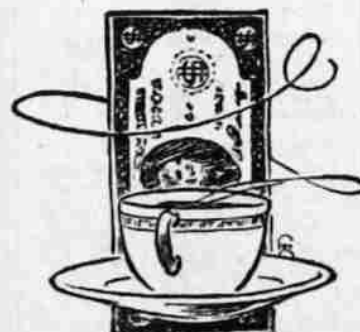

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

"It was he," Secretary Tumulty continued, "who insisted on mining the North sea to cut off the German hornets, and who said: 'I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have, to crush the submarine nest.'"

Why do we money-back Schilling Coffee?

Because we are sure of the coffee. We know it—all the way from the green to your kitchen.

Another reason: So that you can find out, without cost to yourself, whether it suits your taste.

Schilling Coffee

'GREAT REDEEMER' AT THE OGDEN SUNDAY IS TAKEN FROM REAL LIFE

Maurice Tourneur's great screen production, "The Great Redeemer," which is to be shown at the Ogden theatre for four days, beginning next Sunday, is a reproduction of the story of a man who lived a life of suffering and sacrifice for the sake of his fellow men.

When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Two years ago in the San Bernardino, California, jail was a Mexican held upon the charge of manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted the Crucifixion.

The direct result of the painting resulted in the Mexican being granted a pardon by the governor. When he was released, the Mexican was a new man and today he is said to be a successful artist in Los Angeles.

Why REOLO Restores Health

REOLO supplies to the blood the natural organic, vegetable iron (which is the only kind of iron that the blood will assimilate) and the twelve inorganic cell-salts which nourish the cells of the nerves, blood, tissues, brain and bones.

REOLO rapidly increases the number of red blood cells, and plasma of the blood, increases the supply of oxygen, aids digestion, strengthens the nerves, cleanses the system, stimulates the circulation, and gives renewed strength and energy.

It has restored thousands of sick, discouraged men and women to health and happiness. Test it at our risk. If REOLO does not benefit you, the two weeks' trial will not cost you anything. Don't delay.

Next month may be too late. Start taking REOLO today—and give it a fair trial.

Go to your drugstore—get a box of Reolo, and deposit with him the regular price. Then take evidence of good faith. Then take Reolo regularly according to directions until you have used the entire box. After two weeks' trial, if you are not perfectly satisfied, your drugstore will gladly refund your money.

REOLO, INCORPORATED Cleveland, Ohio

A. H. McIntyre Drug Co., two good stores, Ogden, Utah, and all leading druggists.

Go to your drugstore—get a box of Reolo, and deposit with him the regular price. Then take evidence of good faith. Then take Reolo regularly according to directions until you have used the entire box. After two weeks' trial, if you are not perfectly satisfied, your drugstore will gladly refund your money.

REOLO, INCORPORATED Cleveland, Ohio

A. H. McIntyre Drug Co., two good stores, Ogden, Utah, and all leading druggists.

Go to your drugstore—get a box of Reolo, and deposit with him the regular price. Then take evidence of good faith. Then take Reolo regularly according to directions until you have used the entire box. After two weeks' trial, if you are not perfectly satisfied, your drugstore will gladly refund your money.

That Sprinkle of Sugar over your cereal dish is expensive and it is a needless expense. Try the rich flavor of Grape-Nuts

A blend of wheat and malted barley rich in its own sweetness.

Grape-Nuts requires no sugar and this is only one feature of its general usefulness and economy.

At Grocers Everywhere

Made by Postum Cereal Co. Inc.
Bettie Creek, Mich.

